Chapter 1:

Are You Ready to Meet the Man of Your Heart's Desire?

Synopsis

Before embarking on the strategies that can help you win the heart of the perfect man, it's important that you consider whether or not, you are ready for this. In this chapter, we look at some of the factors to consider before you start looking for Mr. Right.

- ❖ Are you ready to meet the perfect man?
- ❖ Are you ready to date again after your breakup?
- ❖ Why are you looking for the perfect man right now?

Sometimes women think that they are ready for love but in actual sense they aren't. This is something even a man can tell. Before you start trying to win him over, first ensure that you are ready for this. You should be in the right place especially emotionally and psychologically.

Are You Happy With How Your Life Is Right Now?

Many women make the mistake of assuming that finding the perfect man is what will make them happy. If you are waiting for a man to complete you, then you aren't ready to find the right man. You need to get your life together first. Ensure that you are living the kind of life that you want. You should have dreams that don't all involve a man.

Mr. Perfect will not be responsible for fixing your life and giving you a reason to wake up every day. Such a woman will have problems meeting the right kind of man and keeping him around, a man who sees this kind of desperation will either run away or even take advantage of you.

If you are sad and depressed and just waiting for a man to make you happy, then you may not be ready to meet the man of your heart's desires.

Have You Gotten Over Your Last Relationship?

You can't find the right man if at all you are still holding on to the past. If you are still crying about your breakup and are looking for a new guy to fill the void then you aren't ready yet. You may actually chase away a good guy at this point. If you meet a nice man and you keep talking about your ex or comparing him to the ex, this can push them away.

Don't carry the anger, bitterness of your last relationship with you. Just because your man cheated on you doesn't mean that all men will. If you still have these negative feelings you may not be ready to meet a new man. You may even project this feeling onto the new guy.”Please don’t ever cheat on me, if you do ill find out” This isn’t something you should be saying to someone who you are hoping to have a relationship with. If you are still hurting over your last relationship, give yourself a little time to heal before you start looking for the perfect man.

Do You Know What You Want?

If you don’t know what you want, then you will end up falling for any guy. This makes it very easy for you to make the wrong choices. You should have a clear idea about what you want in a man. This doesn’t mean that you have a checklist. It just means that you have to figure out what you want. Find out what you want from the man. This will give you a great insight on what to look for when you meet a guy.

How Do You Feel About Yourself?

Some women will only believe that they are beautiful if a man tells them so .If you are in such a place in your life, then you aren’t ready for your man yet. You have to work on building your self-esteem and making yourself a much better as an individual, If you aren’t happy just being you, how do you expect to be happy as a part of a couple. Insecurity isn’t a trait that men want to see in a woman that they love. You have to be confident in yourself and avoid being insecure and too unsure about yourself. Don’t expect a man to make you feel better about yourself. This may bring you disappointments especially if he doesn’t fulfill your emotional needs.

Chapter 2:

How to Win the Heart of Your Perfect Man

Synopsis

In this chapter, you will get some guidance on how to win the heart of your Mr. Right. You can have the man of your dreams if you follow these simple tips.

- ❖ How can you attract the perfect man?
- ❖ How can you get him to fall in love with you?
- ❖ What can you do to ensure that he doesn't slip through your fingers?

You can find the perfect man and ensure that you stay with you for the rest of your life. Love is a beautiful thing that makes life gain meaning. Don't miss out on a chance to find true happiness with your soul mate.

How To

Remain Independent

Some times when a woman meets her dream man, she somehow ends up losing all her senses. Her life and happiness start to revolve around the guy. He is always on her mind and she can't wait to talk to him or see him.

This can result in her making constant phone calls or sending him texts or emails. She may also try and see him every chance that she gets. It's okay to be head over heels over someone. However, be very careful not to lose them by trying to too hard to be with a man.

Try and remain independent. Concentrate on other things apart from him. Keep in touch with your friends and go to work or school as usual. You have to ensure that you have a life separate from him. If you keep trying too hard to be part of his daily plans, you may scare him away fast!

Just because you have met a new man, doesn't mean that you give up on your own individuality such as hanging out with your girlfriends.

Keep Some Mystery in The Relationship

You shouldn't reveal everything about yourself when you meet a new man. Keep some things to yourself in order to remain intriguing. You should also avoid divulging some sensitive information in the initial stages of dating. Telling him about an eating disorder that you used to have is a bit too much information for someone you are just starting to date.

You don't have to lie. You just have to know how much information is ok and how much is too much. You can tell him all your secrets later on when you have dated him for a lengthy period of time.

Don't Rush for Sex

No matter how attracted you are to him, jumping into bed too quick is never a good move. It will give him a bad impression of you. It may also change the tone of your relationship. Instead of a commitment, he will be in it just for the sake of having a good time.

Try and get to know him better without sleeping with him. Build the relationship and work on your emotional intimacy before the physical aspect of the relationship is introduced.

Don't jump into bed with a man too fast before you get to know them. This will cause you some serious regrets.

Don't Tease Him

Just because you don't want to sleep with him yet doesn't mean that you can tease him or toy around with his emotions. Avoid dressing in a manner that is too provocative or too sexy. Don't come on to him making sexual overtures and then turn him down. Avoid heavy make out sessions and then bailing out the last minute. All this will make him focus on sleeping with you and once he succeeds with that, he will walk away. Don't play such games with a man that you are genuinely interested in.

Don't tease him and play around with his emotions.

Avoid Showing Desperation

You may have been desperately looking for a man when he came along. Maybe you have had bad luck in past relationships or have always had problems finding a good guy. However, whatever your situation, you can't show signs of desperations. Telling a man just how long you have been single and searching isn't a good tactic.

You should also avoid showing him that you need him so much. No matter how difficult things maybe in your life, you can't show him that you need to be saved. His money and looks shouldn't be your main area of interest. No man likes to feel like they are being used in any way.

Show Him That You Value Him

It may be hard to adjust your life to let in a new man especially if you have been single for a lengthy period of time. You may find it hard to be able to change your daily schedule to leave room for your new man. Maybe you were used to being with your friends and spending the rest of the time at work. However, once you meet a new man, you have to adjust things and make room for him.

Avoid things such as using your phone too much when you are with him even if they are important work calls. Try showing him that you value him without being overbearing. You don't have to give him your attention throughout the day; you just have to do simple things that show that you care. For instance, text back when he texts you no matter how busy you are.

Pay Attention to Your Looks

Many times a woman will only pay attention to her looks when she is trying to catch the attention of a man. She will wear nice clothes, put on some makeup and get her hair done.

However, once he starts showing some interest, a woman gets so comfortable that she starts to let herself go. She starts wearing clothes that aren't flattering and makeup becomes something that is worn only once in a while. This isn't good. If you are trying to attract a man and keep him around, you have to take care of yourself so as to keep him interested.

Ensure that you look good even when you are hanging out with him indoors. You can relax on your looks once you are married or have been dating for a year or so.

Keep looking fabulous and you will have him attracted to you long enough to have him falling in love with you.

Be Open

You don't have to reveal all your secrets to him in an attempt at openness. You just have to give him your opinion and share with him without being cocky or too revealing. Men are attracted to women who have their own minds and can speak up for themselves. If you don't agree with something, don't be rude or argumentative; just clearly express your disagreement. No man will be attracted to a doormat. So don't be one.

Don't lie to him. This can ruin any relationship. If he asks you something that you aren't ready to talk about, just tell him this without lying. However, it is something very important then you better tell him the truth. If you have a child with another man, don't hide this. You should be upfront with him. Some men are okay with dating single moms while others aren't so avoid withholding such information.

Be Yourself

Don't try to get a man to fall in love with you by trying to be some else. For instance, if you don't like sports, you don't have to lie about being the biggest baseball fan just because the man is into baseball. You should also avoid trying to be the woman who you think he might be attracted to. He may be attracted to Kim Kardashian but this doesn't mean that's who he wants you to be. So be you and let Kim be Kim. Don't change your dressing or personality just to get someone to fall in love with you.

Be Confident

A man will be drawn to a woman who is confident and has her life together. You can't get confidence from a man. You have to be confident with yourself. Trust yourself. Self-doubt shows in your personality and this can be unattractive to a man. Although a man is supposed to do the chasing, this doesn't mean that you sit down passively and let him do everything. You have to make a few moves. Sometimes come up with a plan and see if he likes it. Doubting whether or not he will ever want to do what you want is not going to get you anywhere.

Remember, confidence is sexy.

Let Him Be the Man

This may sound strange but actually it happens a lot especially with independent women. They are so used to being on their own and relying on their own survival tactics. You have to learn to let him be the man and stop questioning his ability to do things. If he offers to help you fix something, let him do it. Suggesting that you can do it yourself or maybe call a professional will just push him away.

Allow him to help you out with manly tasks such as changing the car's tire.

Work On Your People Skills

You don't have to work on your people skills only when you are working. This is actually important even when you are dating. Don't take for granted simple things that you may assume to be obvious. For instance, there are women who like to talk a lot. This may have them interrupting a guy all the time. If he is telling you something avoid things like, "That reminds me of....." interruptions. Stop cutting in and just listen.

Learn what appropriate and what's not. Don't just ask someone if they are republicans or democrats right off the bat. Also avoid making him feel self conscious.

Listen, Talk and Laugh

You can easily bore a man if you don't talk at all. Learn how to hold small talks. If you are on a date, keeping quiet and just staring down will easily get his mind elsewhere. If he tells you a joke, laugh even if it's not funny. But don't give a fake laugh that is too obvious. He may think that you are making fun of him.

Above all, learn to listen to him. If a man is talking to you and you look distracted, this may get him to shut up. Men like confiding in a woman who can listen to them. Give them your undivided attention and this will make them confide in you even more.

Pay attention and listen to him when he is talking to you.

Don't Try to Buy His Affection

Many people assume that only men try to buy love without knowing that there are women who also try out this approach. Trying to buy him gifts or give him money will not work. It doesn't matter whether or not you have money and he doesn't. A man who falls for this tactics is only trying to use you. He will not fall in love with you though such means.

A man who is courting you will be doing these things for you. He will pay for dates; get you flowers and also small gifts. However, you don't have to return the favor and buy him a car! Bottom line is, it doesn't matter what you have and what you can do for him, and you just can use material things to buy his affection.

Chapter 3:

What Do Men Look For in A Woman?

Synopsis

Do you ever wonder what other women have that seems to attract the best men? In this chapter we look at the answer to this question.

- ❖ Do you have the right qualities to attract the perfect man?
- ❖ Do you have what it takes to keep the man your my life after the initial attraction?
- ❖ What does the perfect man look for in the ideal woman?

Sometimes you may try out different strategies of getting your dream man but you don't seem to succeed. This may be due to some of your traits. You have to ensure that you have the right qualities that a good man looks for in a woman.

What Do They Want

Feminine

Men are attracted to the feminine qualities of a woman. It's ok to roll up your sleeves and be one of the boys when at work but when you are with your man, you should show your feminine side. Some of the desirable attributes include, being caring, compassionate, tender, and gentle and understanding. They say, opposites attract and this is why men are attracted to feminine qualities since they themselves possess the masculine qualities.

In line with being feminine avoid being sexually aggressive especially if you have just met a guy. Making suggestive statements with sexual intonations on your first date is just going to scare the man. If you want to flirt with him keep it subtle. Place your hand lightly on his knee or forearm for brief minute. Rushing things will make you look slutty and give the wrong impression about you.

Have Your Own Life

Unfortunately, there are women who spend their lives waiting for a man to define their existence. This is a woman who just wants to marry well and has set a plan on how to be a perfect wife. She has no other interests in life apart from her man. This isn't an attractive quality at all. Men like women who have their lives and sense individuality. You should have your own friends and your interests. Nobody likes to be followed around by a woman because she only wants to do what he wants to do.

Take Things Slow

If you want to lose the perfect man within days of meeting him, try to rush him. You should start talking about moving in together, having kids or getting married. This kind of pressure is simply scary for most men. Nobody likes to feel like they have no control over their future and this is how you will make him feel if you try to rush him.

You should also avoid making too much contact. Don't keep calling, texting a guy who you have just met. Let him make the first moves then follow these. If he texts, then text him back. You can start the communication too but ensure that you keep it light. Don't be overbearing.

Softness

Men are generally attracted to a woman who is soft hearted. No man wants to be stuck in a relationship with a woman who is coldhearted or seemingly emotionless. A woman who exudes warmth and acceptance is likely to attract men.

Sense of Humor

You have probably had about this, when a woman likes a man she will laugh at his jokes even when they aren't funny. A good sense of humor is nice. If you are watching something funny together, being stone-faced is just boring. Learn to laugh and have a good time. You have to let loose and let go of your inhibitions.

Strong Women

This doesn't mean physical strength but rather strength in character. A woman who has a strong good personality is likely to attract men. Men don't like women who don't seem to have a mind of their own. They also don't like women who don't seem to have any personality at all. You can't just be there in such a way that your presence isn't felt. A strong character is interesting.

You should also be able to stand up for yourself. If a man treats you badly, then don't just let them off the hook. If he is late for a date, you don't have to throw a tantrum but don't take it lightly especially if he didn't have a good reason.

Modesty

Most people assume that the beautiful woman with the sex appeal is the one that attracts men. This is especially if she is an "eye candy" and dresses in ways that keep men ogling. However, this initial physical reaction is usually temporary. In addition, it is more likely to bring about lust and not love. Men want a modest woman to settle down with.

To attract the right kind of men, you have to be modest. This should be clear in your dressing and the way you carry yourself. It should also be in your speech. This means that you do have to stop cussing if at all you normally do that. Dress and act the way you would if you were to meet your mother-in-law today.

Wear something modest as opposed to something sexy and revealing.

Confidence

This is one of the sexiest attributes that any woman can have. All men are drawn to confident woman. This doesn't mean that you should be challenging, argumentative, combative, it just means that you have to believe in yourself. High self-esteem shows through character and so does low self-esteem.

However don't be over-confident or try to put the man down. Reminding them that you have a better job, house, and car or are more educated isn't good. You shouldn't flaunt your successes in a way to put your man down. Your confidence should empower them make them more comfortable around you. They may even proud of you. However, if you shove it down their throat, this will push them away.

Confidence is an important attribute in every woman.

A Challenge

It's been proved that men like a good challenge. This is just something that appeals to their masculinity. Don't just make things very easy for him by being too available. It's also not advisable to make the first move or do the pursuing. Many feminists will tell you that it's ok to do that but it's not. You have to be the pursued and put up a challenge without necessarily playing hard to get. A good challenge is also a way to make things interesting. Let him court you instead of just presenting yourself to him on a silver platter.

Don't Be an Easy Lay

No matter what magazines or movies show you, sleeping with a guy on the first date or even the initial month of meeting him isn't a nice move. No man wants an easy woman. This will even make the man question your morals. Take time before jumping into bed with him. It doesn't matter whether he tries to instigate it or not.

Physical Attributes

Smile

There are a number of physical attributes that men look for in women. One of them is the smile. If you are the kind of a woman who likes to stay gloomy and serious all the time, you have to lighten up. Smile more often. A smile will also soften your facial features and make you look more attractive than a frown which hardens the features.

Men like women who smile. A frown will scare a potentially nice guy away.

Voice

Another attribute that men pay attention to is the voice. Some are attracted to a soft voice. Others like a huskier one. However, a screamer isn't an attractive quality. If you have a naturally high pitched voice, learn how to control this. You can't talk to a man as if you are shouting. This even kills the romantic mood.

Lips

Men also pay attention to a woman's lips. Statistics show that most men are attracted to fuller lips. However, whether you have fuller or thinner lips you have to take care of them. Don't let them get dry or cracked up. Use lip gloss or lip stick to make them look good.

Eyes

Men are naturally attracted to a woman's eyes. This is why if you want to flirt, learn how to use your eyes well. Holding someone's gaze then slowly lowering your gaze or even batting the eyelids is flirty. Don't hide your eyes being sunglasses even if they are designers.

You can look into his eyes without staring him down. Use your eyes to flirt.

The Hair

The hair plays an important role in the woman's overall beauty. In most cases, men are attracted to women with long hair as opposed to a boy cut.

Chapter 4:

How to Know If He is Interested in You?

Synopsis

In this chapter, you will learn how to read the signals that men give. This will help you know whether a guy is interested in you or they are just wasting your time.

- ❖ Does he feel the same that you do?
- ❖ Does he even notice you?
- ❖ Does he really like you or is he just interested in sex?

There are so many times that women end up losing a lot of time on the wrong guy. This time wasted could have been invested in finding the right man. In addition, your focus on the wrong guy may prevent you from seeing the right guy who may have been right in front of you all along.

Signs That He Is Interested In You

Posture

The way a man sits next to you can tell you a lot. If he leans towards you or is seated with facing you then he is interested in you. A man who keeps his body faced away from you isn't interested in you. Crossing one leg over the other also isn't a good sign. This shows he is closing you out, if he crosses his arms around his chest that's also a bad sign. Posture tells a lot and yes do want him to lean in close and not do the opposite of that.

A man will also use any excuse to touch you. They will brush hair from your face, lightly touch your hand, knee or arm. The touches are all good signs that he is interested in you.

The Eyes

The eyes tell a lot. If a man looks at you in the eyes, then he is interested. You should take up on this and smile as you look at him. This shows that you are interested too. However, if you are talking to a man who is looking around you and not at you, this isn't a good sign. If he is looking at your chest instead of your face, then this is definitely the wrong man.

A man who looks into your eyes as he talks to you is interested in you.

How he looks at you can also tell you if he is a good listener or not. A guy who is interested in you will listen keenly when you talk. They will show an interested in getting to know you better. If he is just talking about himself then he is not interested in you.

He will also keep laughing or smile when you talk to him even if you aren't the funniest person in the world.

You Keep Bumping Into Him

When you suddenly start bumping into a guy so many times, you should think about this. It could be that these accidental meetings aren't so accidental after all. The man may be hanging around your favorite places just to see you. You have to make the most out of these little meetings. Talk to him a little bit.

A guy who likes you may start changing his schedule so as to keep bumping into you.

He Shows an Interest In Things That You Like

A guy who likes you will show interested in things that you like. For instance, if he likes watching sports and you don't, he may try and watch something else that you like instead of trying to get you to watch the game. He will also get interested in things that make you happy even if he isn't into them. For instance, if you are a poet, a guy who likes you will ask you about this. They may also show ask to read some of your work. However, if he says “I don’t like the whole poetry thing, I prefer”That isn’t a good sign.

Signs That He Isn’t Interested

He doesn’t contact you. If a man likes you, he will want to see or at least talk to you. If he has you number and he has never even called you then this is a sign that he isn’t into you. It doesn’t matter whether he is shy or not!

If he has your number and yet he never calls to ask you out, then he isn’t interested in you.

Drunk and Dialing

A man, who only calls you late at night when he is drunk, isn’t interested in you. As a matter of fact, he doesn’t even respect you at all. It doesn’t matter if he calls and sings and even says that he loves you. You should never justify that he didn’t have the guts to call you when he was sober because he is shy or busy.

If he only calls you late at night especially when he is drunk, then he isn’t into you.

He Doesn’t Listen or Talk Much When He Is With You

A man who doesn't seem to pay attention to you when you are together isn't interested in you. For instance, if he seems more interested in checking out the waitress than in listening to you then leave him alone. Also whether he is a talker or not, if he is too quiet when you are together this isn't a good sign. He could be shutting you out and showing no interest in letting you get to know him. A man who is interested in you will engage you in conversation and pay attention when you talk.

In addition, if he seems distracted when he is with you then this is a bad sign. You may notice that he keeps texting or making calls when you are trying to have a conversation with him.

Shows Interest in Other Women

A man who openly or secretly flirts with other women isn't interested in you. This is even disrespectful. If you catch him smiling at other women in a manner that you seems flirty then leave him alone. If he is constantly talking about other women then this is also a bad sign. Why would he be telling you about the hot new intern at his office? This isn't someone who likes you at all.

If a man is constantly flirting with other women or checking them out even when you are together, then he isn't interested in you.

Friend's Zone

When a man isn't interested in you he will push you to the friend's zone. He may even start referring to you as "sis or buddy". This clearly defines the type of relationship that he wants from you. He may even start introducing you to other people as "my friend". This is bad especially if you have made some good progress in your relationship to signify that the next step is officially dating.

You may also be put in the friend's zone without even being told anything. The man will start treating you as just one of his friends. If you make plans to meet, he may bring someone else with him. The plans will also not be romantic and may just be a regular hang out between friends.

If he starts involving other people in your plans and introducing you as his friend. He may not be interested in anything more than friendship.

Signs That He Is Just Interested In Sex

Most women tend to confuse intimacy with love. They assume that a guy, who is sleeping with them, must have feelings for them. It is also a general assumption that sex is a part of a relationship. However, you may not be in a relationship with the man you are sleeping with. You may think this is love but to him, it's just a good time.

What Does He Talk To You About?

A man, who is interested in just sex, will most likely constantly talk about this. When you try to tell him about your new job, he may show interested in other things such as “the two of you celebrating this”. He may also not show interested in talking about the future with you. He may seem overly seductive all the time even when you are interested in having a serious discussion with him.

You may also find out that he is pushy about physical intimacy. He may keep trying to get intimate with you even when you aren't in the mood. If you turn him down, he will keep pushing or he may seem angry and just walk away or end the conversation.

What Do You Do When You Are Together?

There are people who claim to be dating but have never even been on a single date. If a man just wants to come over to your house or have you over to his house then this isn't a good man. You should have a relationship outside the bedroom. You should be seen in public together and not just spend all your time behind closed doors.

A man who is genuinely interested in you will want to do other things with you apart from just having sex.

In addition, such a man is most likely to leave immediately after sex. They may not even stay around for breakfast. This is the kind of guy who slips away very early and at times before you even wake up.

What Kind Of Phone Calls Does He Make?

If a man only makes booty calls to you then he is only after sex! If he never calls to find out how you are doing, then you should really consider the fact that he may not be genuinely into you. If he just says, “Hey, how are you, can I come over tonight? This isn’t checking up on you. If he really wanted to know how you are doing, the coming over bit wouldn’t even arise. If these are the only types of calls that you get from him then you need to open your eyes and realize that he isn’t the right man for you.

How Well Do You Know This Man?

Have you even met any of his friends yet? Do you know what job he does? Do you know anything about his life? A man who is just interested in sex will never tell you much about him. He won’t volunteer any information and if you ask him, he will say very little or brush you off.

Trust Your Instincts

If you feel like there is something wrong with your relationship, then probably there is. Women normally have very strong intuition. If a man is cheating on them or just talking them along for a ride, they will be able to tell. Trust your gut feeling. If you think that the man only wants sex, then he does! If you have any doubts about the man’s intentions then you should trust your instincts.

You actually have better luck if you go alone since this will make you more approachable.

Your local coffee joint could be the place where you will meet your perfect man.

Business Conferences

If your work allows you to travel on business, you can use this opportunity to meet the right guys. They don't have to be your colleagues or even the people at the conference. You can meet a guy even at the lobby of the hotel you are staying at. After your meetings, you should take time to mingle and visit one of the local places. If you don't have time, then have your meals or a drink in the hotels common areas instead of your room.

Throw a Party At Home

Your perfect guy could just walk through your door! Think about hosting a party at your home. Then invite your friends and let them bring their friends. This doesn't have to be an expensive party. Most house parties allow visitors to bring their own drinks. You can ask your friends to each bring some wine or food whichever they like.

However, make sure that you don't end up making any rush decisions. Watch the amount of alcohol that you consume. You should also avoid sleeping around or doing anything that may give people the wrong impression of you. Ensure that you mingle with people other than just your friends. This is how you will get to meet someone new!

Holding a simple party at your house could enable you to meet a nice guy.

Chapter 6:

What Would Make A Man Want to Commit to You?

Synopsis

In this chapter, we look at some of the reasons why a man would want to commit. This will give you an insight into how men think and reason when it comes to commitment. You can use these tips to get your perfect man commit to you.

- ❖ Why do some women get commitments from men while others don't?
- ❖ What can you do to get your perfect man to commit to your forever?

As a woman, it is possible to get a man to commit to you. At the same time, you may be doing things that push a man away.

Commitment

If He Is Sure That He Won't Lose His Independence

Men don't like the idea of losing their independence. They still want to be able to have their own loess even after they get married. Independence doesn't imply that he is free to date other people though. It simply means that he will get to enjoy his life and not live it like someone serving a time in jail. He will want to be able to still hang out with his friends. He would like to be able to do his own things like watch a game without his wife hovering around him.

When you are dating him, you need to prove to him that he will have his independent even when you are married. Let him have his space when you are dating. Don't nag him or follow him around. Don't be too possessive and try to spend every second of the day with him. In addition, encourage him to pursue his dreams. In the meantime, you should also have your life. Do your own things and hang out with your friends from time to time.

You can get a man to propose to you if you can prove to him that you will let him live his own life and not try to run his life just because you are married.

Honesty

Men want to commit to women who are honest. There is nothing that men abhor more than a woman who is dishonest. You have to ensure that you don't hide things from him. For instance, if you used to be married before, don't let him find out after you are married. You should also never use deceit to try and get him to commit. For instance, getting pregnant in order to get a commitment is just a stupid move that can cause some resentment from your man.

If you try to deceive a man to commit to you, you may end up alone and miserable.

You should also never lie to him especially if he needs your opinion on something. For instance, if he wants to open a business and you don't think this is a good idea, you should politely tell him so. Lying and approving just to make him happy will not work out for you. He will feel betrayed especially if he discovers your deceit.

They Don't Feel Caged

A man will actually commit if at all the woman allows him to make this decision without pushing him. He may have thought about marrying you but as soon as you start pushing him, then this will work against you. You can hint or start asking him to make a commitment. You should also try not making any ultimatums since this a great way to push him away.

Take the time to get to know him without pressuring him to make a commitment.

Chapter 7:

Things That May Push Away Your Perfect Man

Synopsis

In this Chapter, we look at some of the things that may push away your perfect man. Finding him is one thing, keeping him is quite another thing.

- ❖ How can you keep him interested in you?
- ❖ What can you do to avoid pushing him away?
- ❖ What are the things that nice guys dislike in women?

Some women never have a problem with meeting great guys. Their main issue is getting the guy interested and holding this interest. Some very trivial things may rob you off a chance to spend the rest of your life with the perfect man.

Why Will He Leave

Trying to Rush Things

When you meet the perfect man, you may immediately start thinking about what you can do to ensure that you have him forever. It's common to picture yourself with this man, living in a nice house and even have kids. You may already see yourself in that white dress on your wedding day. It's okay to dream and want all these things. However, keep them to yourself!

If you start telling a guy about how much you want to get married soon, you will scare them away very easily. If you have just been dating a few months, starting up random topics about marriage is a turn off. Don't also try to be smart by dropping cute hints without really saying it. Don't pretend that you have accidentally switched to a program about new moms and kids. You should also stop telling him about all your friends who have gotten married or are having kids.

Trying to get a guy to meet your parents too soon is also pushing him. Don't even try to get them on the phone to say hi to your mum. These are scary tendencies that most men hate. It makes them panic because they think that they have lost all the power over their futures. They may also start feeling that they are working on some deadline. This makes them focus on the things that they wanted to do before settling down.

Nagging

Men really hate being nagged. Some women start nagging their men and complain to them too much. No man wants to be constantly told what he needs to be doing. Men also hate being followed around by women seeking attention. You need to have your own life and stop bugging him.

Scorning a man or comparing to other men to make him feel inadequate will push him away. You need to learn how to make him feel appreciated.

Constantly nagging a man can easily push him away from you.

Silent Treatment

Most women like to adopt this strategy to express their anger or hurt. Even if you have just a man or have dated him for a while avoid this habit. If he said that he would call you then he fails to, ask him about it, and don't give him the silent treatment. Some women tend to carry this on in the hope that the man will realize where he went wrong and make amends. If a man is late for the date, sulking and keeping quiet will ruin your date and at the same time put him off especially if he had a good reason for the lateness.

Shrugging your shoulders, being cold and saying "nothing" when he asks you what's wrong is simply annoying. If you are angry or hurt, express yourself with words. Don't expect him to read your mind.

The silent treatment is a bad habit that pushes men away.

Being Too Possessive

Just because he is with you, doesn't mean that you own him. You can't start trying to control how he lives his life. Asking him about every woman he says hi to is just being too much. Trying to control his communication and how he interacts will push him away. If you meet his friends, even if you think they are immature, don't go telling him this.

You should also avoid trying to spend every single minute of every day with this guy. You can't follow him around and sulk when he starts looking for some time apart. Try and have your friends and activities that you can do. Also give him the space to enjoy his own independence.

Looking Down On a Man

You may be more educated or earning a better salary than him but this doesn't mean that you have to boast about this. Don't make him feel like he is inadequate. You should also avoid comparing him with other men. Learn to respect your man and show him that you appreciate and value him and the role that he plays in your life.

Trying to push him to get a new job or change his life to meet your requirements will only push him away.

Trying To Change Him

Maybe the man you meet may not have everything that you need in a man. They may also have some traits that you don't like. Trying to change this man to who you want him to be may bring about feelings of resentment. Don't try to change his dressing or how he does things. Don't go over to his house and start rearranging this and adding stuff that he hasn't even shown interest in.

Trying to change a man will only push him away.

Wrapping up

Once you find the love of your life, everything else seems to fall into place. Life is much easier if you share it with someone that you love. Everyone deserves a chance to be in love.

In addition, it is true what they say, there is someone for everyone. It doesn't matter how much bad luck you have had in the past, you can still find the right man. You can find a good man who will love you and treat you like a princess. When you meet this man, you have to ensure that you do the right things to make sure that you don't lose him but instead have him for life.

Are You Ready For Love?

The first step is to make sure that you get your life together and make room for love. Holding anger and resentment from your last relationships means that you aren't ready. You also need to work on yourself and make sure that you are at a good place emotionally. You can't use a man to help you feel complete. You need a man to compliment your completeness.

Go Out There and Meet Him

You won't meet the perfect man while you are seated on your couch in front of your TV watching other people live their lives. You have to go out there and meet someone. You do need to put some effort into it. Acting like you don't need a man or you are disinterested in everyone isn't a good strategy when you are trying to meet a new guy.

Don't Mess It Up

Once you meet the perfect man, you need to ensure that you do the right things to make sure that he stays around. For instance, trying to get him to commit immediately will just scare him away. You shouldn't nag or stop living yourself. Ensure that you establish a good healthy relationship with this man.

Open your heart to love and take things slow. Learn to enjoy each step of your relationship without trying too hard to get to the future. Remember, love is a great part of life but it's not the only thing. You have to live your life and establish your individuality even when you are a part of a couple.
